

Despair

(Tap tap tap tap tap.....) The sound of rapid footsteps from a man in the middle of the city breathlessly shouting "The enemy has arrived at the border!", it seems he is the border guard of the territory. Suddenly all the residents who heard and witnessed the man became absurdly surprised. They thought that the movement of the conqueror troops was just a myth or that it had taken a long time to arrive. "We are finished, I don't want to die", "What if they catch me, sell me in the slave market", "Where will my child and I flee, just living here is enough". Shouted the residents who screamed in despair and pale faces.

The previous man had arrived in front of the palace, apparently it is the palace of a king who ruled the area. Immediately he asked permission from the palace guard to meet the king. As soon as the man faced the King, with a hoarse shouting voice he said "Your Majesty, the terrible conqueror army from the east has arrived! Sooner or later they will come here and erase me, you, our children and wives, and everything. Do something, you stupid king!" The King who heard the man's scream immediately ordered the soldiers to punish the border guard man. "Arrest him, sentence him to behead and burn his corpse!" Shouted the king loudly until he ran out of breath. It's well reasonable, the king's face was also very desperate and very poor. He knew that the military power he owns would not be able to overwhelm the conqueror army, not even be able to hold them back.

Satisfied with venting his anxiety on his subordinates, a voice came from behind him. A man, around 40's years old, in a half loud voice he said "Your Majesty, what are you going to do huh?! Standing there waiting for us all to be slaughtered? I've served this royal family for generations. Your father was once a brave knight, it is impossible to him to have a cowardly and pathetic son. You must fight!" Said the minister advised. Actually the minister only motivated the king just to cover up his anxiety and despair. In his own heart he was shrouded in despair as well. "Damn it, my golden treasure that I worked so hard to collect will be plundered by that bastard conqueror. For sake of my treasure, I will try anything to protect it, no matter what. After all, if the king managed to defend the city even if him get killed. I will be the next king hahahaha! HA HA HA HA! HAHAAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!!"

Hearing the pseudo-wisdom of the minister, the king knew if he didn't act he would be brought down by the vizier. The wazir is the second most influential person in the kingdom. Refusing it is the same as dying, but leaving is also dying. Forced, the king with half and half courage ordered the general, who also seemed desperate with the words "Gather all the troops, gather all the men from all levels who can fight, we must fight together u..unt..il we d..die!!!",shouted his scream with of heavy doubt. Who is not afraid of death when you already have the highest position, abundant wealth, and many concubines. "Y..Yes Your Ma..majesty", said the general.

In the middle of the city, under the overcast clouds and accompanied by the sound of thunder that strikes incessantly. The king, the general, his troops and the civilians who had been gathered walked towards the border. The horses slow their footsteps, it was intentional. In their little hearts, they refused to depart. Depression, despair, anxiety, sorrow, misery, sadness, fear, horror, all words that mention sad things gathered together and manifested themselves to form the faces of each troops. The king and generals are no exception. "We must keep fighting! WE WILL WIN! WE MUST STILL FIGHT EVEN IF THAT OUR OPPOSITE IS GOD. FOR THE SAKE OF LIFE CONTINUITY OUR GENERATION AND THE GREAT OF OUR NATION!!!" Shouted the king encouraging his troops, the sentence was only a false encouragement and only to harden the guts for a while. "LONG LIVE THE KING, let's pray that the king and his army can win the battle and return home with great victory!" Shouted the residents, who originally their shouts are the same. Just to appease the heart. After a few minutes, everyone's faces returned to their previous faces, depressed, hopeless, anxious, and sad. How could it not be, the conqueror troops were the strongest and most terrible troops from the east, they had conquered many nations, plundered their contents, and enslaved their people. It was not enough for them to just conquer a few nations, they wanted to conquer the whole earth. That's the news that was heard and spreaded, they thought it was just a myth and even if it was real they wouldn't have come here. But reality always be a real bitch, they know they don't have the slightest chance, but like it or not they have to keep going to the border.

After a while, it rained. A voice was heard, "Withdrawwww!!!! We can't hold them off!, they are too tough". But it was too late to retreat, their large numbers surrounded the troops from all directions. The rain is getting heavier, As a silent witness, Nature was witnessing swords covered in blood and arrows sticking everywhere. The sound of burning fire, the sound of cannons banging, screams everywhere. Crying, yes you right, only crying enveloped the atmosphere. In the end, the nation's history disappeared from the face of the earth.